WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this section fair; colder tonight and Tuesday; light to fresh northerly winds.

The President at Rapidan.

In a driving rain the President, Mrs. Roosevelt, and four of their children, accompanied by their host, Mr. Joseph Wilmer, went horseback riding yesterday afternoon. The party left the Wilmer mansion shortly after 3 o'clock and did not return until 6 o'clock. Yesterday morning the President and his family and Mr. Wilmer drove to the picturesque Little Episcopal church in Rapidan, to attend divine services. The trip was made in a big carry-all capable of seating comfortably ten persons. It was drawn by four horses. Mr. Wilmer himself driving. Not more than a score of worshippers braved the storm to attend the service. At the conclusion of the service the President and Mrs. Roosevelt were greeted cordially by the rector and the few members of the parish present, the introduction being made by Mr. Wilmer. Owing to the severe rainstorm, the wild turkey hunt, scheduled for this morning had to be abandoned. The President and his family returned to Washington this morning. The special train passed through this city about 11:06 o'clock. The special train consisted of two coaches, the President occupying the rear one. When the train rolled into the depot but few people were on the platform and they were mostly railroad men. The stop occupied but two or three minutes, and when the train started Mr. Roosevelt appeared at the rear door of the car and made several bows to the people who were in front of the waiting room.

Funeral of the Late W. L. Hayes.

The members of Alexandria Lodge of Elks assembled at their hall at 10:30 o'clock this morning and proceeded to the ferry wharf, where, at 11 o'clock, they met the remains of their late brother, William L. Hayes, whose death occurred at his home in Washington Friday. The funeral services were held at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Washington, at 9 o'clock, after which the remains were brought to this city for interment in St. Mary's cemetery. The impressive ritual of the Elks was used at the grave, and Mr. C. C. Carlin, of Alexandria Lodge, delivered the eulogy. Rev. Father Cutler, of St. Mary's Church, conducted the religious services at the grave. The deceased was a member of Columbus Lodge, No. 1, Knights of Fidelity, of Washington, and of the Bartenders' Union, both of which organizations were represented by delegations at the funeral. A large number of friends and acquaintances of the deceased followed the remains from the boat to the cemetery.

M. E. Church South Music.

The following is the musical program next Sunday. Morning services: "Christians Awake, Salute the Happy Morn," Schnecker; "Sing, oh Sing this Blessed Morn," Frey; solo, "Nazareth," Guessed, by Mr. Kenneth Odgen. Evening service: "The Hush of the Night Hath Fallen," Spence; "We Have Seen His Star in the East," Sinefer; Christmas solo, Noel, by Miss Pollard. Choir: Sopranos, Misses Vierkorn, Lindsay, Watkins, Stokely, Mrs. Smithers and Mrs. Field; altos, Misses Pollard, Cockey, Pierpoint, Mrs. Gillum and Mrs. Warfield; tenors, Messrs Odgen, Wilkins and Netherland; basses, Messrs. Dinwiddie, Stump and Gaines.

Colored Woman Drowned.

Rose M. Taylor, colored, aged nineteen, of Brookland, D. C., stepped off the wharf at the foot of Eighth street southwest, Washington, a few minutes after 7 o'clock last night, and was drowned. The body was recovered about twenty minutes after the unfortunate girl fell overboard, but all attempts to revive her failed. Benj. Woody, who was with the girl, and who was drunk, was subsequently arrested. The girl with Woody went to Washington yesterday to meet a cousin she expected on the steamer Harry Randall. The couple concluded to take to this city and board the Randall when that boat stopped here. The Taylor girl had left that steamer on its arrival in Washington when she fell overboard.

Catholic Benevolent Legion.

At the annual meeting of O'Kane Council, Catholic Benevolent Legion, held in St. Mary's Hall yesterday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Michael Croghan, president; Jas. Roache, chancellor; James P. Quinn, vice-president; Rev. Father H. J. Cutler, chaplain; J. D. Normoyle, orator; "Thomas Burroughs, sr., secretary; M. J. McFarland, collector; Robert L. Wenzel, treasurer; M. Downey, marshal; Wm. Desmond, outside guard; John Nugent, inside guard; Edward Quinn, William H. Sweeney and Sylvester Breen, trustees.

A Rainy Sunday.

The cloudy conditions of Saturday evening brought rain during the night which continued at intervals all day yesterday and into last night. About 2 o'clock this morning the heavens grew clear and this morning broke bright with a crisp temperature. The churches yesterday were but thinly attended on account of the inclement weather, and at night there were still more empty pews. There were but few people moving about during the day, especially in the afternoon.

Stricken with Paralysis.

Mr. Augustine J. Smith, the venerable father of Dr. William M. Smith and Miss Mary Smith, of this city, was stricken with paralysis at his son's residence, 811 Prince street, Saturday morning. The illness is causing his family much apprehension. Mr. Smith was en route from New York to New Orleans on a business trip, and had stopped here to visit his son and daughter only a few hours before he was stricken.

An altercation occurred Saturday night between two men at the intersection of King and Royal streets, during which one the parties was severely beaten. They were both cited to appear before the Mayor this morning when the party who made the assault was fined $5.

ACCIDENT ON ELECTRIC ROAD.

A Soldier Killed and Another Seriously Injured—Other Passengers Bruised.

An accident occurred to a south-bound car on the electric railway at Royal and South streets at twenty minutes to one o'clock yesterday afternoon which resulted in the death, several hours later, of Private Silas Woliver of the Forty-seventh company of coast artillery, stationed at Fort Hunt, and the serious injury of Corporal Thomas H. Appleby of the same company. Two other soldiers, named Colt and Knight, who were with them escaped with slight bruises. Mrs. Etta Henderson, of Washington, who was a passenger on the car, had one of her hands cut while in the act of saving her little child from injury.

The accident occurred at the point where the track of the Southern crosses that of the electric road in the extreme southeastern section of the city. A few feet west of the electric railway track and an equal distant south of the Southern track an upright post supports a heavy timber which swings at a right angle on a ring hinge, the timber being held up by an iron rod passing from its end to the top of the upright. This device serves the purpose of a combination gate and signal, and ordinarily hangs across the Southern track, in which position it is locked. When a Southern train is about to cross the tracks of the electric road a Southern trainman unlocks the gate and swings it across the tracks of the electric road, in which position it remains until the train has passed, when it is swung back and again locked.

From some unexplained reason the gate proved to be unlocked yesterday. Some suppose it had been tampered with, while others suggest it may not have been locked after having been used recently. Car No. 317 left the Royal street station for Mount Vernon at 12:32 p. m. in charge of Motorman Henry F. Burke and Conductor William J. Vernon. The car carried about twenty passengers. The four soldiers, who were returning to the fort, occupied seats in the forward part of the car on the west side. As the car approached the crossing the motorman noticed a cow on the track some distance beyond and reduced his speed and got the motor well under control. The gate at the crossing was in its usual position, but just as the trolley car reached the Southern track it swung around, the end crashing through the second window behind the motor cab, carrying away three windows and the dividing woodwork. Motorman Burke at once applied the emergency brakes, bringing the car to a standstill. The beam had entered the car at the window by a seat occupied by Woliver and Appleby, striking them on their heads with full force. Colt and Knight were sitting in the seat behind the other two and had an opportunity to dodge. Mrs. Henderson was the seat immediately behind the soldiers. She had on her lap her little granddaughter. When the crash came Mrs. Henderson threw up her hand to protect the baby's head, and her action probably saved the child's life. She was struck on the back of the head by the beam and received several bad cuts and bruises, but the child was uninjured.

Woliver and Appleby were removed at once to the Alexandria Hospital where it was found that they were suffering from fractured skulls. The former died shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon. While Appleby was badly wounded, it is believed that he will recover. The vibration caused by the passing car is supposed to have set the gate in motion. Woliver is said to have been a native of Jonesville, Lee county, where it is believed his parents reside, though efforts to communicate with them have been unsuccessful. When questioned by the hospital authorities Appleby stated that he was a Virginian, but declined to give any further account of himself. He is about thirty years of age, and the dead man was several years younger. Woliver's body was removed to the undertaking establishment of William Demasie and Son and prepared for burial. Dr. Purvis, the Coroner, summoned a jury today for the purpose of holding an inquest. In the absence of material witnesses the inquest was postponed until tomorrow.

Sent to the Alms House.

Mrs. Swan and her grown daughter, who have for some time had no visible means of support, were taken in charge today by Officer Roberts and conducted to the station house. Mayor Simpson later sent them to the alms house. The mother and daughter came to Alexandria several years ago from a neighboring county.

County Court.

[Judge J. M. Love presiding.] Com. vs. Kate Jackson, indicted for petit larceny; case continued until next term. Moore vs. Early; unlawful detainer; jury and case in progress. Court adjourned until tomorrow.

Coal for Gas Works.

The city gas works has received a supply of coal, and any fear that may have been entertained of the city being left in darkness has subsided.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Patrick O'Farrell, one of Washington's best known Irish Americans, died there last night, aged 70 years.

A horse attached to a milk wagon ran away on upper King street yesterday morning. Some of the bottles were broken before the animal was stopped.

Jesse Riner, an incorrigible youth, was arrested this morning by Officer Allen at the instance of members of the Mayor who delivered an admonition to him, in which he told the accused that should he be brought there again he would be sent to the reform school.

The residence of Mr. R. W. French, on South Washington street, which was advertised to be sold today, was withdrawn and the sale indefinitely postponed. A deed was recorded in the Corporation Court today conveying the store now occupied by Mr. French on King street to Mr. G. J. Haines, the consideration named being $8,000.

Marie Louise Winsatt, better known as Marie Wilson, of the original "Florodora" sextet, who won a fortune in Wall street, New York has obtained a decree of divorce from her husband, R. Henry Winsatt, of Washington. The parties are well-known in this city and neighborhood, having at one time lived in Fairfax county.

A meeting of the Spanish War Veterans was held yesterday with Captain King in the chair. A committee was appointed to secure a hall for the use of the organization, after which the meeting adjourned until next Sunday afternoon.

J. W. Jackson Council, Junior Order of Mechanics of this city, on Saturday, presented a U. S. flag and a Bible to School No. 9 in Mount Vernon district, Fairfax county.
